Safety Testing: BPA and Phthalates

August 8, 2010

We would like assure our customers that all of our Crazy Straws® and Crazy Straw® Drinkware items are unquestionably safe. In addition to our plastics being BPA-FREE, our Crazy Straw® products are independently safety tested and meet or exceed all federal, state and local regulations for the presence of BPA, Phthalates, PVC and Lead in children's products.

To best ensure your confidence in the safety of our Crazy Straw® products, we've setup the following link below to provide you with access to additional safety information and copies of testing.
